Some Info Just for You

The pattern is worked from right to left. You will join your yarn on the right for each row and cut off yarn on the left after each row.

Your "Anchor" stitch will always be your first and last stitch in the pattern depicted by a (↖).

The first row of the blanket is the only row that you will turn the work and sc in the second chain from the hook. Cut off yarn at the end of this row. You will start with your contrast colour on the second row and Blsc along the row.

For this pattern, I have worked 6 panels. You can repeat them as many times you please depending on how large you require your blanket to be.

There will be written instructions for each graph. There will be instructions for bigger sizes.

Thank You

A huge thank you to my testers. These ladies are machines and without them I would not be able to have the blanket tested and ready in such a short time. Thank you Lynn Laing and Kim Lategan. Your work is gorgeous and you definitely keep me on my toes.
